

Goa University retains its position in first 250 Universities among BRICS countries in QS University Rankings

Goa University has retained its position in first 250 Universities in the 2019 edition of the QS World University Rankings - BRICS Regional Rankings section. This is the fifth successive year wherein this rank is retained. To avoid anomalous results, QS evaluates only those institutions producing more than 150 papers in the last five years thereby resulting a comparison of 403 institutions from BRICS countries. As far as Goa University is concerned, the papers per faculty have gone up this time and the analysis reveals that the staff with PhD indicator is the strongest parameter for the Goa University.

QS World University Rankings also brought a India University Rankings edition for the first time this year and ranked Goa University in their list of top 75 institutions in an overall rank of 56 to 60. A total of 86 Universities from India were considered using the same parameters that of BRICS Regional Rankings Section.
