

Prof. Bhosale interviewed on ChemistryOpen

Prof. Sheshanath V. Bhosale, UGC-Professor at the School of Chemical Sciences, Goa University is a highly productive scientist in terms of the number of publications and other quality parameters. As a part of several professional activities, he serves as the Editorial Board member for an Impact Factor Journal titled 'ChemistryOpen'. The journal is introducing its readers the views and ideas of the Editorial Board members. In this series, he puts forward his ideas on current research focus, the critical issues and the future perspectives as well as the most critical areas in Chemistry that have a great potential. Reading this from his perspective would be of interest to all professionals in Chemical sciences as well as budding research scholars.
