GOA UNIVERSITY, GOA

Goa University (GU) is perhaps the best Public University in India. It is multi-disciplinary and internationally visible. Located in globally recognized, progressive, socially harmonious Goa, GU has a predominantly young, highly diverse, qualified and motivated faculty. GU's per capita scientific productivity is sixth highest among Indian HEIs, measured in terms of top 25% Scopus publications as a ratio of all Scopus publications. With a small base of students drawing from a small host population, 71% of the students are women, one of the best gender ratios in India. GU also has the only western University Choir in India, which is globally renowned.

These achievements are particularly noteworthy in the light of Goa's unique political history. No higher education (except medicine) existed in Goa during the 451 years of Portuguese colonial rule. Immediately after the Liberation of Goa on 19 December 1961, Centre for Postgraduate Instruction and Research (CPIR) of Bombay University was established in Panaji in 1962. Goa University was established in 1984, incorporating CPIR, just prior to Goa achieving statehood in 1987. The picturesque Campus of 404 acres on Taleigao Plateau was inaugurated in 1990 with 12 departments, as compared to 6 Schools and 15 Departments today. From Marine Science to Konkani, many unique branches of learning are located in a small public multi-faculty university.

University Library

The Goa University Library and Information Centre was established in the year 1985. It was then part of the CPIR of Bombay University. From its modest collection of books, this library has developed into a huge library with modern facilities. At present, the library has a collection of 185391 books, 69 periodicals, 344 e-books, 7900+ e-Journals and 10983 volumes of bound journals. The library is getting a large number of periodicals on gratis too. The library is automated for its routine works and the entire collection is bar-coded.

A large number of online resources (full-text journals, citation & abstracting services, federated search engines, statistical tools etc.) are available to the users of the library through University funds. There are 13 such databases covering various subjects and two research assistance tools provided to the end users. The links to all these are provided via the Knowledge Portal available at http://www.unigoa.ac.in/library/knowledge-portal/. The off-campus access to these resources is provided through Shibboleth software provided by UGC INFLIBNET.

The Goa University Library has digitized its 1107 Theses and uploaded them to the Digital repository created using Dspace the Open-Source Software. The library services are being done through Koha an Open-Source Integrated Library Management Software . Users can easily get the detail on the availability of books and they can reserve and renew the books themselves online.

The library website can be accessed at the URL http://library.unigoa.ac.in. This website is developed using an Open-Source Content Management System Wordpress. A huge Knowledge Portal has been developed which links to multifarious information resources on the Internet.
