Orientation programmes on Dissertation Reporting: Do's and Don'ts

One day Orientation programmes on Dissertation Reporting: Do's and Don'ts was held on 14th December 2023 in three batches of Post graduate final year students from all disciplines of Goa University. Goa University is the first University in India to adopt and implement NEP 2020 in the academic year 2022-23 at the post-graduate level. Dissertation writing is an important component of NEP 2020. The DIQA under the guidance of Vice Chancellor decided to have orientation programme on dissertation writing for the final year students to guide them on do's and Don'ts of dissertation reporting

The inaugural session of the workshop began with the welcome remark by Prof. Rajendra Gad, Director In Charge, DIQA and Dean, Manohar Parrikar School of Law, Governance and Public Policy. The Chief Guest, Senior Prof. Harilal B. Menon, Vice Chancellor, Goa University in his inaugural address spoke about the significance of developing right kind of skills for research. He urged the students to select the research topic related to Goa. He encouraged the students to work hard, produce quality dissertation work and aim to get the work published in reputed journal.

The resource person of the orientation programme, Dr. Tapaswi Murari, Chief Scientist, NIO, Goa and former OSD of Goa University emphasised that, while it is important to learn research skills at the same time it is also necessary to understand what needs to be avoided while writing a dissertation. He asked the students to select the topic which they like to research on and pursue it with full passion.

Objectives:

1. The objective of the orientation programme is to familiarize the research writing skills.
2. It aims to create awareness among the students about ethical research.
3. To familiarise the participants about the new Software's available for research writing
4. To facilitate an understanding of the techniques of both qualitative and quantitative research.

Description of the workshop:

The Orientation Programme organised by the DIQA, Goa University on "Dissertation Reporting: Do's and Don'ts" aimed at guiding students through the nuances of dissertation preparation. The distinguished resource person Dr. Tapaswi Murari, Chief Scientist, NIO, Goa and former OSD of Goa University emphasized the necessity of creating a well-structured schedule for the dissertation process. Dr. Tapaswi Murari introduced the participants to various essential software and websites that are instrumental in data collection, referencing, and organizing research materials. The session provided students with valuable tools to facilitate their dissertation research effectively. Students were informed about the ethical concerns related to their research work and the repercussions of plagiarism.

Benefits of the workshop:

The orientation programme provided a platform for students to comprehend the comprehensive framework necessary for successful dissertation writing. The structured guidance provided by the resource person has equipped the attendees with essential strategies, software tools, ethical insights, and guidelines, laying a solid foundation for their dissertation endeavours. This session has empowered students to embark on their research journey with a well-defined roadmap, ethical clarity, and the necessary tools to excel in their dissertation work.
