The objective/description of the activity	Objective: To inculcate the idea of entrepreneurship among students which may be considered by some of them as a future prospect. An email with flyer informing all the students and teaching staff about the talk at the auditorium of SCS building of Goa University was sent. Dr. Prachi welcomed the audience for the first seminar session of the AY 2023-24 and introduced the speaker. Dr. Monika began her talk by presenting her academic journey from postgraduation to PhD and finally her postdoctoral research. Briefing about her MSc and PhD research work, speaker emphasised about significance of research in academic life and its subsequent advantage in future. She also mentioned about the problem of bacterial infections in elderly people and patients after amputations and prosthesis; which she saw as an opportunity to develop an antimicrobial solution based on her nanotechnology research. Dr. Monika described her product development journey and elaborated about the entire process involved in starting a venture and all the difficulties encountered at various stages. The speaker also informed the students about different funding opportunities for research and start-ups in India in general and also the ones dedicated to women entrepreneurs. The talk was followed by interactive session with active participation from students enquiring about different possibilities in start-up. The seminar concluded with Q&A session where students clarified their doubts and with a vote of thanks from Dr. Shrikant Naik.
Benefit/Key outcome of the event	The event successfully enlightened the MSc students towards various career paths in chemical sciences and inspired them to consider entrepreneurship as a career option. It also illuminated the students on how a basic research work started at MSc dissertation could be extended and elaborated for PhD and finally form the basis of a new start-up idea.
