

Goa University proudly congratulates Dr. Elizabeth Maya, alumna of the School of Chemical Sciences, for being honored with the Service Excellence and Accountability (SEA) Award by the California Energy Commission.

Dr. Maya earned her Master's in Inorganic Chemistry (2002) from Goa University.

She is currently an Air Pollution Specialist at the California Energy Commission, where she oversees electric vehicle infrastructure grant programs and supports California's long-term clean energy and emissions reduction goals.

Goa University celebrates her achievements and wishes her continued success in making a global impact.
