10. The objectives of the Program/activity/event	Daan Utsav, widely observed across India as a festival of giving, aims to promote the spirit of generosity and collective responsibility. The initiative sought to mobilise students, faculty members, and non-teaching staff to contribute essential items for marginalised

	communities through NGO's. The primary objective of the visit was to familiarise the students with the university environment and to provide meaningful engagement through a focused session on hygiene and sanitation.
11. Description of the Program/activity/event	The programme invited children from underprivileged communities in Zuarinagar, Birla, and Vasco to the Goa University campus for a day of academic exposure and interactive learning. The central activity of the day was a session on hygiene and sanitation, designed in a simple and interactive format. The session addressed essential topics such as personal hygiene practices, menstrual hygiene awareness, and safe waste disposal. The session encouraged active participation through questions, short activities, and real-life examples. Students were invited to share their experiences and challenges related to sanitation in their communities.
12. Benefit/Key outcomes of the Program/activity/event	The initiative not only contributed to community health awareness but also strengthened university-community engagement. It provided a platform for meaningful knowledge exchange and encouraged children from marginalised backgrounds to envision higher education as an achievable goal.
